Valentine's Patent
Reversing Centrifugal Water Wheel
—FOR—
"OBLIQUE STRAIGHT SHAFTS."

WHICH are adapted for driving all kinds of Machinery in Manufacturing establishments. These Wheels are made of different sizes and can be set to any power required and from the same pattern. Several Wheels have acquired by the subscriber the reputation of developing several hundred of them already sold and in use we feel confident in recommending this Wheel as combining more advantages than any other Wheel for general purposes. For particular Shafts now used.

A very decided test of the merits of this Wheel will be found in the following extracts from the report of a Committee appointed by the Franklin Institute, to examine the Wheel, which received practical Engineers as one of the most [illegible] formed with curved floats to [illegible] ing upon the nose and vent of the Wheel each extending so far around the Wheel that [illegible] the water arrives at the jet its pressure is suspended that it [illegible] Wheel. The Wheel is inclosed in a [illegible] so as to fill head, the column being sustained by the stationary plate underneath the Wheel, and thus [illegible] downward pressure upon the Wheel which stands perfectly free in the column of water. By this arrangement all the friction on the step, and bearing of the Wheel is avoided, and so much of the power saved which in the ordinary mode of operation is wholly lost.

This Wheel is adapted to low as well as high heads of water and will run as well in back water as out of it, providing the head rises in a freshet as fast as the back water. But a Wheel with the gate slightly guarded for a high head will not answer for a low one, and vice versa for on the head increases the width of the jets should be proportionately increased so that the water may not come to waste, and not give its best effect to the Wheel.

In point of power, the trials above conducted that this Wheel is superior to the best constructed Breast Wheels, and it has the advantage of working with good effect in situations where the Breast Wheel would be worthless. In flats liable to freshets easily accessible when they are injured, costs much less in the outlay, requires no dam, and takes very much less room in a mill or shop. Simplicity of structure, durability of parts consequence of application and superiority for the [illegible] the grand points of recommendation for this Wheel.

THAMAR A. BEARS, Chief Engineer.

NEW AND

GRAY HAIR can be restored to its original color whether Auburn, Brown or Black Sandy, Light or Red Hair can be matched with any darker shade surpassing in beauty even the most natural locks, restoring the glossiness and softness of the original Hair, by a single application of

Dr Ballard's
Peruvian Liquid Hair Dye,

Of one application, which is entirely different from all other preparations of Hair Dye now before the public It is free from all injurious properties, which can be traced by staining a lock of the finest and most delicate Hairs of an infant, and color it with the Dye which will stain a paper Rag or its texture in the slightest degree, which in the best cases to the can be given that it is not injurious On the contrary it improves the lustre of the Hair, promotes its growth and prevents it from falling out and unlike other preparations, (after the Hair is restored to color and life) will not crack, fade, or wash out.

In short from its peculiar delicacy, softness, and easy application, it is worthy the attention of all who may wish to improve the color of the Hair, as it will make any shade, from a white to a jet black It is more adapted to an unaccustomed artist, by persons who have prematurely turned gray and others whose Hair is of no desirable color, which they restore at exchange for a beautiful Auburn Brown or Black, with out any odor to our preparation or the slightest trouble

WHIG NOMINATIONS.

FOR PRESIDENT
ZACHARY TAYLOR.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT
MILLARD FILLMORE.

"For my part, in the dark and troubled night that is upon us, I see no star above the horizon promising light to guide us, but the intelligent, patriotic, united Whig Party of the United States."
DANIEL WEBSTER

If Gen. TAYLOR is elected he will do more to curb the Spirit of Conquest, and check the Spread of Slavery than any other man the Whigs can elect." JOHN Q. ADAMS.

A Whig gain of one Member of Congress—The Comet District Right side up.

It affords us great satisfaction that the Whigs in the Comet District, have succeeded in electing their member of Congress, Rufus K. Goodenow Esq., an able man, and who will make them a faithful public servant. He has the ability to represent the interests of that district, to the entire satisfaction of the people. He will seek for the welfare of the country, and for the establishment of sound political principles and for salutary measures.

This election shows what can be done when the right effort is made, and when a genuine and undisguised representative of locofocoism is before the people. All hail to the Taylor army of the Comet District. They have doubled the Whig representation from Maine in Congress.

☞ The Washington Union complains that Alex. H. Mallory, of Virginia, formerly a member of Congress from the Eastern shore district has joined the Whigs in support of General Taylor, and compliments him to Mr. Cass.

☞ We are requested to state that Rev. B. F. Tefft, D. D. will preach at the Methodist brick Chapel on next Sunday afternoon.

☞ The great telegraph case, which has been on trial at Frankfort, Kentucky, has been decided in favor of Professor Morse.

☞ John Hodgdon, Esq. Locofoco, was elected Senator in the Houlton District, on Monday last.

The following article was written by an Association of ministers of Boston of various denominations, and addressed to the clergy of New England. It contains truths of startling import that should be attentively considered by every parent in Maine. Thousands of the young of both sexes in Boston, are natives of this state.

Moral dangers of the City of Boston.

Latent influences in the horrible vice which periodically ensnares and ruines the male youths of the city, from fifteen or sixteen and upwards—and here are several hundred houses of prostitution of different kinds, in our midst and around—the various motives and methods by which youth are allured in the beginning should be known to their friends. Unsuspected acquaintances a prurient curiosity, or the night walking harlot may first lead to those places of infamy. But especially on commencing city life let youth be cautioned against any immoral companionship in the shop or the board house.

Newspaper advertisements for the cure of secret disease occasion many to dare that scourge with which Providence would deter the tempted from the abominable sin. Worse than all, the keepers of infamous houses employ well paid agents to entice company within their doors.

These perils threaten also the temporary visitor and the number of the endangered continually increases by means of our multiplying railroads. Young men may come on necessary business and unexpectedly be beguiled, or they may feign plausible occasion for the journey, the real object being illicit pleasures. Sometimes even now the brothels receive more support from the country than from the city. Doubtless the remark patronage from those not residing here. The warnings of wisdom against the strange women, and the way to hell and the house of death, are not generally enforced more frequented and more carefully than seniors and friends of home are aware. The truth is, the young men's wards have been too generally situated by corrupting conversation among themselves, perhaps like wise by obscene books and pictures. The cheap and fictitious literature of the day has also a debasing tendency. Of the rival in the city, they can realize in fact all that the rampant imagination have pictured in idea, and many counted real the temptation.

Public eating houses, drinking saloons, dancing rooms, and places of amusement are frequented by young men from fifteen to twenty five. The attractions and cards to tempt the inexperienced are various, and to the thoughtless extravagant, and to the sensual. The designing harlot even selects the young man from a country, and was treated by a knave to our beer help, and was directly enticed into a transaction which carried him to the House of Correction.

Public theatre presents its profligate lessons, but is frequented by youthful and eager learners. There are, moreover, various gambling establishments of different kinds and grades where a few cents may be hazarded for a dram, as many dollars for a supper, or a still larger sum for gain to the pocket. Many go in at those gates of ruin.

There is much pleasure-riding out of proportion to time and beyond prudence in expense. Numerous vehicles are seen dashing into the country on Sundays, variously driven by youth from fourteen, upwards. The allowance to a clerk or apprentice is barely enough for the most economical living. Whence, then, the means for these indulgences. In the case of clerks, they are often purloined in cash or goods from the employer. How great the temptation to petty thieving, every, and to deeper crime. Many such youths come to an early grave. A merchant informed the writer that out of fifty clerks he had early acquaintance, but died young, and mostly of despair on. Until the intemperance or the shall ache we greater trials these terrible hazards of life and health will take place.

Both are some of the temptations and perils. What now the remedies? It is hoped that a few suggestions may be permitted with all the charge of presumptuously advising. First, ought not boys to be retained in the country in far greater proportion than at present? Has not a strong natural talent and taste for mercantile affairs, and good moral principles and habits been, and it, withal, the cure of faithful Christian friends can here be secured, then he might come to the city with some satisfactory prospect of safety, but, it otherwise, he had better be kept from its seductions.

Many betake themselves to the city with false notions of the ease and certainty with which they may become rich. We have reliable statistics, that averaging all classes in trade, nine by one out of a hundred fail. In the retail dry goods business the failures are estimated at ninety-seven to a hundred. Poor encouragement to try the uncertainties of trade, in preference to the use of manual employments, out of which springs all true and substantial wealth.—It should be early understood, that it requires a peculiar combination of qualities, intellectual and moral, to make an eminently successful merchant, with honesty. Youth should be seriously warned, least they strive against their own natures and God's providence, in choosing for occupation the traffic of a city.

As to mechanics apprentices, from the daily exhaustion of physical strength, they are perhaps less inclined to evening excesses, and not having access to ready money, or to goods easily exchanged for it, there is less liability to costly indulgences. Many, after serving a year or two, and get tinged but a smattering of their trades leave the master and become journeymen. The object generally, is wages which shall be at their own disposal. But there is the greatest danger, that such command of time and money will lead to habits of dissipation. Moreover, with this imperfect knowledge of their trade, they must take up with but low compensation, and such chasm may often continue at low pay ever after hand, for their giddy heads and unsettled ways will not allow them to become finished workmen. Indeed they will always be bunglers, unless they have a special talent for mechanical operations. Youth should continue with employers if possible, it till the trade is acquired, than, with perfected skill and steady habits, they can do honor to their manhood. It is thought advisable by many of the judicious here, that country boys learn trades in the country, where safety is probable, unless there are peculiar circumstances of security in constitution and education, and through friends resident in the city.

If the youth must come hither, his friends would, of course, be thankful for all possible safeguards. Frequent letters between relatives at home and the absent one would keep alive domestic associations so powerful to prevent evil. Again, parents and the employer of a son should be on friendly and sympathizing terms, now and then correspondence in respect to his character and welfare.

Now with deeper sadness and almost with despair it must be told that young women from the country are subjected to still more terrible dangers. Unchaste females in our city are numbered by thousands. By far the largest portion of them came from the country. Some probably were seduced from purity at home—Others had permitted improper familiarities, though not absolutely yielding their virtue; and, on entering the city, they less easily resisted the artless machinations of the profligate. The rest, entirely innocent, resorted hither for honest employment all unsuspicious, as it may be of the hazards encountered. To specify a few of the exposure to which a poor girl is liable. Suppose her in pursuit of domestic service at an intelligence office. The keeper of a brothel may engage her at the best wages and a total ignorance of her destination.—When once entrapped, her principles may be gradually undermined by insinuating arts and her innocence sacrificed, or she may be imprisoned and violence used to subdue to lustful approach, or, still farther, she may be drugged into unconsciousness, and her person violated; then, on recovery, in shame and agony, she may give herself up to utter ruin. The most nefarious abductions by various methods, occasionally come to light. Sometimes seeming gentlemen make the acquaintance of the inexperienced female on the stage coach or railroad car, and, on arrival at the city, under pretence of securing for her respectable lodgings, or a situation at service, conduct her to a house of infamy. Lounging pimps, at railroad depots and steamboat wharves, watch opportunity to beguile the bewildered and inquiring girl to the brothel. Carriage drivers have sometimes taken up affected females to houses of ill fame, instead of respectable boarding houses. It is far from our intention, however, to bring reproach on a whole useful class of persons, for it is hoped that they are generally honest.—Those carriage drivers, reputed trustworthy, are licensed by the authorities, and known by figures on the cap, and adding the number of the vehicle belonging to the individual. Let no a number be noted and without fail remembered, so that, if any difficulty occur, it may be reported to the proper authorities. But with all precaution the risks to newly arrived female strangers are numerous and alarming, so much so that some benevolent people have lately taken measures for their greater safety. An institution has been established designated thus—"STRANGER'S RETREAT, No 6, Columbia St." If the young woman shall bring a note from her pastor to this direction, and immediately present herself at the place, she will be likely to escape the first pitfalls of the city and will there receive such advice as will somewhat ensure against subsequent evil. At any rate, safety requires that care be taken, before leaving home, that she shall find some house of unquestionable reputation directly on her arrival here.—But dangers do not end with the obtainment of a desirable situation, indeed they have scarcely begun. If she becomes a domestic or falls in a fellow servant of the other sex may engage her affections, ruin and desert her, or the son of her employer by presents and solicitations may entice her to his base purposes. Even the employer himself may accomplish her destruction notwithstanding his own conjugal obligations.

Again, suppose the young woman comes to learn a trade, or to work at some right manual employment, she is a fearful jeopardy. She catches the attention of some young profligate and skilled in manœuvre, he soon procures an introduction. She is quickly interested. She imagines herself about to gain a prize the dearest hope of her life,—a genteel husband one in manners and rank, superior to the less polished and apparently humbler friends left at her rural home.

Words of flattery are heard, dazzling gifts are received, and her heart is completely in possession of a villain. Affects note fair for a season, then indications of heartless and at last horrid seduction is achieved. She is ruined and cast off. Neglected by the respectable, and ashamed to return to her parents at home, she becomes the common prey of the dissolute. At length she is utterly lost to all sense of shame, and to any lie, to everything good. Some hasten by suicide what others we would be an early death. Seven years is the average term of a prostitute's life.

A clergyman brother at one of our meetings detailed the case of one of his own young church members,—a sapphires who, from innocence and seemingly deep piety, descended in regular order to the brothel seduced by a genteel and fair spoken clerk. Illustrations illustrates the history of thousands. Horrible destiny! Brethren shall such havoc of fair frames and immortal souls be suffered? But how prevented?

May a few suggestions be permitted? The chief means of prevention must be in early education. One grand mistake must be correct. If the love of approbation has been mostly related as a stimulus to good character and conduct. Conscience has scarcely been awakened. Hence when females, by one false step have lost reputation. The motives therefrom become inoperative, and the feeble conscience cannot hold them back, from further progress toward ruin. Let the love of approbation, comparatively, sink into neglect, and the sense of right, with the religious and social affections, be cultivated to the utmost. The unfortunate may come to herself, turn to her heart may be forgiven and return at length to society and respectability.

Again, the love of dress and display—occasions the ruin of many a girl. She sees fashion flaunting in the streets. Her early developed and constantly nurtured love of finery is stimulated anew at every spectacle of the kind.—She longs to dress, and flaunt, and display. The profligate, aware of the foible, gratifies it by glittering gifts, and at length receives in return the spoil of purity. Multitudes are thus lured to destruction. The practical bearing of this fact upon education in respect to notions about dress will at once be perceived.

Lastly, ought not a far higher view of love and matrimony to be presented than prevails in ordinary conversation? The relation of the sexes should be not only physically but religiously considered. Divine and immutable are the laws and awful are the sanctions appertaining thereto. The union of one with another in wedlock is of most holy import in the sight of the Father of spirits. The sweet felicities of home, the birth of immortal beings, the peopling of the earth, yea, the peopling of the heavens, depend on the fitness, purity, and sacredness of this union. Then in all its length, and breadth, and height, and depth, let it be understood and appreciated. On this subject, might not parents be addressed in sermons, lectures, and private conversations, much more frequently than has been the custom? And they too keenly realize the infinite importance of training up their sons and daughters in the way they should think and feel and act in the relation of sex? If to us momentous responsibility. Let it be faithfully discharged by clergymen, by school teachers and especially by parents, and then how would society be purified—and one broad and thronged way to destruction be closed up.

Dr. Beecher's Bitters.

...THIS new and much admired beverage is a luxury to the palate, and a cordial to the constitution. It enlivens the mind and invigorates the body This extraordinary compound, which has cost the study of years in a chemical laboratory, combines all the virtues of the "Matchless Sanative," "Swain's Panacea," and "Evans' Sublime Preparations of Chamomile Flowers" It will supersede the use of the "Lacina Cordial," which merely restores the acute powers, while this will enlarge and increase their force and activity It will entirely supplant the use of Animal Magnetism and Phrenology, and will, without their aid fully develope the faculties and secrets of the human mind In short, if taken in sufficient quantities, these Bitters will never fail to allay pain, wherever seated, and will be an admirable adjunct to the labors of the Statesman, Philosopher, Poet and Lover

THE ORIGINAL AND ONLY GENUINE INDIAN MEDICINE.

The same yesterday, to-day and forever.

Certificate from Col Tate editor of the Columbia Democrat Pa

OFFICE OF THE COLUMBIA DEMOCRAT,
Bloomsburg Columbia Co Pa,
March 4 1848

DR William Wright—Dear Sir—I am one of the many whose aversion to quack nostrums has deprived them of the benefits resulting from the use of good medicines. Acting under this influence I have seldom resorted to the Pill box. Last March when you commenced advertising in my paper I was induced to give your Indian Vegetable Pills a trial, and after having fairly tested their merit for my self and family, gave them a decided preference over every other preparation.

In every instance when afflicted with sick headache, or when the stream of life was encumbered with morbid humors I found speedy relief from the use of your Pills. By taking from four to six on going to bed when indisposed, I have always been restored to health, without loss of time and without the expense of a physician. Wright's Indian Vegetable Pills possess the distinguished merit of operating effectually without disturbing the rest of the patient and in my case without producing even sickness at the stomach.

Respectfully, your friend, &c
LEVI L TAIL

[From the Delaware Express Delhi N Y]

WRIGHT'S INDIAN VEGETABLE PILLS.—Although not particularly friendly to patent medicines we must confess that we have become a convert to these pills having had an opportunity on one of two occasions to test their efficacy. For a gentle medicine, one or two will be found mild though effective. When bile or other impurities have accumulated and more thorough medicine is required a dose of three or four of these pills taken on going to bed, will be found effectual in cleansing the stomach and restoring the bowels to a healthy state. We speak from experience, and take pleasure in recommending the pills to the public.

Look out for Counterfeits!

Some are coated with sugar others are made to resemble in outer appearance the original article. The safest course is to purchase from the agents only one or more of whom will be found in every town and county in the State.

The following agencies have been established for the sale of Wright's Indian Vegetable Pills in Penobscot County—

M'Alister's All-Healing Ointment.

WHEN this Ointment is worn upon the chest and warmed into the feet, it not only acts upon the organs of the breast but the whole nervous system and diffuses its virtues to the extremities and thus assists and brings in parting a new and activity and energy to those organs while it separates and sets free every impurity or humor that may be lodged there, and expels it to the surface. Mr James McAlister—Dear Sir—Having purchased a few bottles of your Hair Oil last summer I persuaded my sister who had lost her hair from some disease of the head to try it. She had used Bogle's Hyperion Fluid and several other articles recommended for the hair without any beneficial results but after having made use of your Hair Oil a short time the hair began to make its appearance and she has now a fine head of hair.

Respectfully yours,
SAMUEL A BADGER

Reliable Evidence of the Efficacy of BUCHAN'S HUNGARIAN BALSAM

[From the Christian Freeman.]

While we repudiate quackery we are always pleased to give credit or that which is truly useful, and to give information which may benefit others. A few days ago a brother of ours, from Norway Me, came into our office in comfortable health, whom we did not expect to see again on earth. We received a letter a few weeks since, from another brother resident in the house with him, saying that he was confined to his bed and could not probably continue but a short time. Judge then of our surprise when we saw him enter our office. He has a slight cough remaining as it would be natural that he should have, until he has had further time for acquiring strength of lungs. But he is in comfortable health. The following letter which he addresses to the general Boston Agent for the medicine which has restored him so wonderfully will show what medicine has been the instrument of the good work.

Boston Feb 16 1847

Dr. D F Bradlee—Sir—I cannot refrain from saying a word to you in commendation of Buchan's Hungarian Balsam of life. Here is a plain statement of facts in relation to my case and if this are of any service in inducing the sick to seek relief at the source from whence I obtained it, I shall be thankful.

My residence is Norway Me. Two years ago last fall I took a violent cold which left a cough of the most aggravated kind accompanied by a severe pain in the left side. Last June I had become so feeble that I was obliged to quit all work and was confined to the house until about four weeks since. During that time I received the best medical attendance and tried nearly all the medicine was recommended in such cases but could find no relief, but grew worse, and for the last three weeks was confined to my bed 2 oz of my physician gave me up past recovery. But as fortune would have it, I heard of the Hungarian Balsam, and immediately procured a bottle. This gave an instant relief and six bottles have brought up my cough and placed me in a situation to resume, with advancing health my usual occupation.

BE WISE TO DAY

Delay in any case is dangerous, consumption is emphatically Death, under all ordinary treatment. The Hungarian Balsam is a great ANTIDOTE as well as CURATIVE. If you have any symptoms above described, be advised in time.

Sold in large bottles at only one dollar per bottle.
